FEDERAL LAWS

In addition to the ARPA Laws, an additional Federal law called "Abandoned Shipwreck Act of 1987" is in effect and is being enforced.

This law gives the individual States control over historic shipwrecks lying within 3 miles of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts and 10 miles off of the Gulf Coast.

DISTANCE MEASUREMENTS NOTE:

All distance measurements for sites are direct from point A to point B and are NOT road measurements. Distance measurements are taken from the center of one point to the center of the center of the other. Linear measurements are usually accurate to one tenth mile (1/10th mile) while Latitude and Longitude coordinates are accurate to one thousandth of one minute, which equates to approximately 30 feet, depending on the accuracy of your GPS.

WHAT IS A GHOST TOWN?

There have been many inquiries as to how we have determined what establishes the parameters for ghost town status. While the dictionary definition is not satisfactory for our usage, Mosquito Publishing has used the following:

That a town or settlement was at one time a thriving and viable community. That it subsequently declined to the point that it was virtually abandoned or deserted.

It was a rule of thumb that communities were established on good land. That being the case, even though the original town may have declined to ghost town status, as modern communities expand, they often cover the site of the previous settlement. This occurrence is happening more rapidly as our population expands. The site would still be considered as a ghost town site, even if covered by modern construction and no visible signs of the original town exists.

Michigan State Law

Authors comment:

The Michigan laws as follows are not complete and there is no guarantee that they remain valid. Omitted for the sake of brevity, are those sections dealing with the formation of government boards and committees, as well as what to do after obtaining a permit from the state. Be aware that Michigan is tough on violators and have the right to confiscate any and all equipment used to break the law. That rule extends to your vehicle, equipment and even your house in some cases.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES
COMMISSION POLICY number 2506

subject: USE OF METAL DETECTORS ON STATE LAND

Preamble:

The use of metal detectors provide an inexpensive recreational activity for many people, and generally has not caused unwarranted and excessive destruction or damage to natural or human resources. However, the use of detectors can lead to unauthorized and destructive digging of State lands. Artifacts on State land legally belongs to all the people and cannot be casually removed by the finders.

General Policy:

The Department shall consider that the use of metal detectors provides pleasurable recreation for large numbers of citizens, but also pose a threat to resources by initiating destructive digging on State lands. The Department shall seek to prevent the one without unduly restricting the other. Unauthorized removal of State property shall also be prohibited.

The use of metal detectors shall be allowed on State-owned lands administered by the Department except in legally closed areas or in "designated" historic or archaeological sites. "Designated" means those listed on the State of National Registers of Historic Places, or indicated by the Michigan Department of State as worthy of serious consideration as a State registered site.

When objects are discovered through the use of a detector the operator may remove them to his possession provided they have little historical significance such as coins less than 75 years old. If there is reason to suspect the object has significance then the finder must contact a Department employee who shall determine if the object may be removed. If there is reason to suspect the object has value pertaining to human history the matter must be referred to the Department of State by the Department of Natural Resources, with appropriate receipts and disposition records provided to the finder.

The use of probes not over 12 inches long, 1 inch wide, and ¼ inch thick, to retrieve objects discovered beneath the surface with a detector shall be allowed if the land is not unduly disturbed. Objects retrieved with a probe shall be treated as to possession the same as surface objects.

Large scale digging with other than the aforementioned probes to retrieve objects discovered through the use of a detector shall not be allowed unless being done as part of a duly authorized archaeological research project.

SHORT TITLE

Section 1. This Act may be cited as the "Archaeological Resources Protection Act of 1979".

(b) The purpose of this Act is to secure, for the present and future benefit of the American people, the protection of archaeological resources and sites which are on public lands and Indian lands, and to foster increased cooperation and exchange of information between governmental authorities, the professional archaeological community, and private individuals having collections of archaeological resources and data which were obtained before the date of the enactment of this Act.

Such notice shall not be deemed a disclosure to the public for purposes of section 9.
